STUDENT BODY PRESIDENTS
Bob Harding and Cliff Chisholm

The commissioners are endowed with super-human intelligence . . . the commissioners are wonderfully kind-hearted and overflowing with charity . . . furthermore, the commissioners work from dawn to dusk and then some. These modest statements sum up the qualities of University High School's twelve commissioners. Needless to say, they head the list of Unihi's students when it comes to pep and ambition; they are elected by the rest of the student body every term to serve in the different commissionerships for the following semester. At meetings presided over by the student body president and Mr. Wadsworth, the commissioners plan the school lives of Unihi's pupils.

The 1942 fall semester commissioners included John Nickel, Student Employment; Blair Fictum, Boys' League President; Priscilla Crosby, Publicity; Filling these same offices during the spring semester in just as capable a manner as the fall officers were Pat Williams, Publications; Helene Goodkind, Student Employment; Jim Miller, Boys' Recreation; Blair Attridge, Athletics; Eugene Dvorin, Safety; Barbara Slyh, Girls' Recreation; Darlene Hubbard, Scholarship; Jim Jewett, Boys' League President; Herb Cole, Organizations; Janet Hamer, Girls' League President; Billy Moore, Publicity; and Pat Hamer, Records.

Let's get associated . . .

The hum and scuffle of the enthusiastic boys of Unihi fill the auditorium with an air of confusion and excitement. Another of the Boys' League assemblies is in the process of commencing, and the boys are anxious to get things under way. Jimmy Jewett, the spring president of the Boys' League, steps forward to the footlights to call the assembly to order and introduce the speaker or subject of entertainment for the day. Blair Attridge, the spring vice-president, and Don Stone, who is the secretary and treasurer, are ones to take bows along with the rest, for they too have contributed largely to the progress of the League this past semester.

Last fall the Boys' League president was Blair Fictum, who set a high standard of achievement for the boys to live up to. Ennis Scott, the vice-president, made himself popular among his fellow school mates while assisting Blair in his campaign for better life on the reservation.

BOYS' LEAGUE EXECUTIVE BOARD
Blair Attridge, Jim Jewett, Don Stone

Why do the girls of Unihi have "super" assemblies? Why do they have so many excellent boards? The answer is the Girls' League. Every term, four hard-working girls are elected from the student body to be officers of the League. Their tasks begin, under the sponsorship of Miss Darsie, with the organization of the boards. Applications are turned in by girls who wish to be on a board, and the applicants are then assigned to different boards. Last year, League activities included the sponsoring of several fashion shows and two new girls' parties.

Fall term officers were Mary Ann Rubel, president; Janet Hamer, vice-president; Janey Funkhouser, secretary; Nancy Bond, treasurer. Holding these offices during the spring semester were Janet Hamer, Jean Hutchinson, Janey Funkhouser and Nancy Bond, respectively.

Tough, but oh so gentle

Under the sponsorship of Mrs. Cozad and Mr. Casey, the Girls' and Boys' Boards of Hearing solve the problems of students and help them to adjust themselves to school activities.

As this year's project the Girls' Board sent a representative to each B10 class, explaining to the girls what they should and should not do while in school, also describing activities in which they could participate, such as social clubs, scholastic society or boards.

The Boys' Board assisted bewildered boys in their individual problems, and helped them to create a niche for themselves in the student body.

Members of the Girls' Board, Grace Everett, Sidney Moore, Claire Freericks, Naoma Childress, Kris Weaver, June Wright, and Barbara Davis, competently carried out the plans of chairman Letitia Matthias.

Members of the Boys' Board were as follows: Eugene Lee, chairman; Doug Allen, Earl Miller, Daryl Arnold, John Hurford, and Jack Rubel.

When in doubt...it's blue

Late again! Here's your blue slip. Where but from the attendance office would these ominous words eminate? But even with his unpopular verdicts to the tardy scholar, Mr. Stanton is one of the best-liked members of the school, and no Color Day is complete unless he is a member of the cast.

Down the hall from the attendance office, is the counselor's office; here, Mrs. Lombardi advises parents and students about programs, curriculum, classes, and other matters of procedure. She plans, with members of the faculty, the guidance program and checks students' credits to see that they have fulfilled requirements for graduation, college or trade-school entrance. Mrs. Lombardi is the answer to all questions of programs and credits.

Ten cakes, twenty pies, hundreds of salads —that's Mrs. Ewing going over the day's menu with infinite care, while the other ladies hustle about, stirring, chopping, and beating in anticipation of the rush of the double lunch hours. Now they are ready with rows of salads, cakes, and puddings; steaming vegetables and luscious soup.

The flowers on the tables and those lovely arrangements in the offices came from the gardens and work-rooms of Uni. No school in the U. S. is prouder of its grounds, with their green, sloping lawns, cool, shady grove and natural springs. Mr. Little and his staff constantly dig, spade, plant and irrigate to keep this campus the thing of beauty that it is today; while no less busy are Mr. Boldt and his assistants to whom the school is indebted for the maintenance of cleanliness and order both inside and outside the buildings.

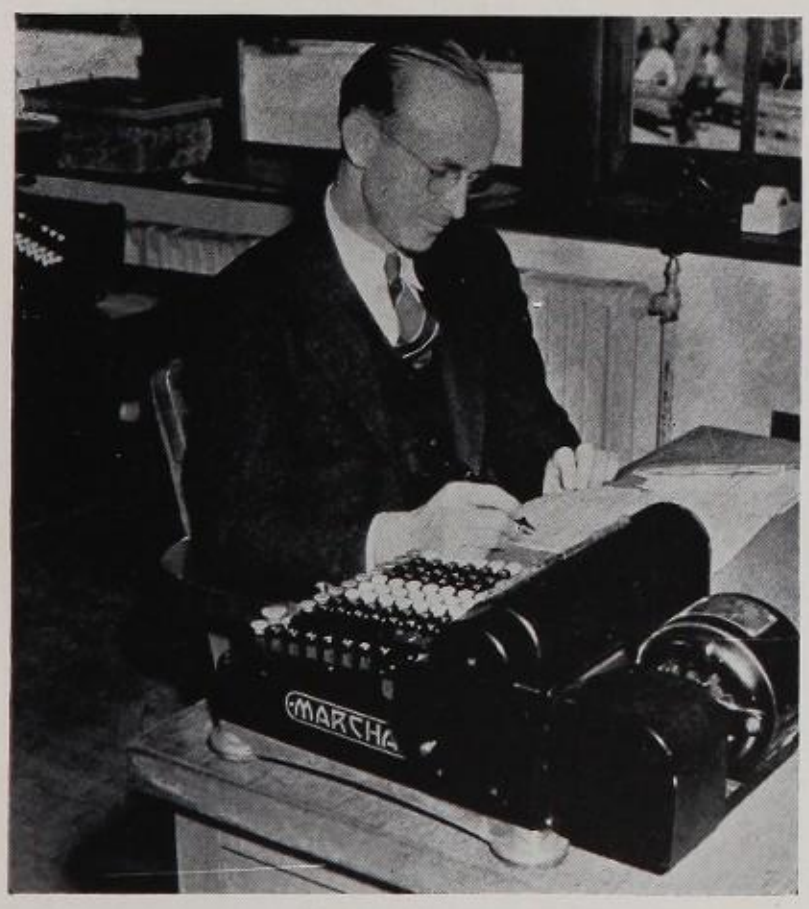
Gracious custodians of the main office, Miss Stevens and Miss Dunlap

May I have some paper? Can you stencil this test? Have you change for a dollar? Did anyone find a leather jacket? May I get a car book? Are the tickets on sale here? are a few of the questions that students and teachers bring to the offices of Unihi every hour of the school day. Miss Dunlap officiates as Mr. Wadsworth's secretary, and she and Miss Stevens efficiently conduct the main office, where the entire school goes for advice, information, and help; Miss Colnon has charge of the book room and assists in the library; Mrs. Patrick keeps records and otherwise helps in both Mr. Stanton's and Mrs. Lombardi's offices; while Mr. Fife runs the student store and has charge of all school finances.

Miss Colnon patiently counts thousands of books, while Miss Patrick keeps the records straight



Unihi's finances are insured with Mr. Fife.

The gay Cavaliers...

Last fall, to the eyes of the innocent bystanders on University High's campus came an amazing sight. Wonderful creatures who seemed to give forth a heavenly radiance strolled from class to class, garbed in maroon colored sweaters with glowing white emblems. No, these were not gods, but mighty Cavaliers, class of Winter '42.

Though they left Unihi all too soon, memories remain of "field day" on the third of December; of Colin Simpson, class president during their B 12 term; and Phil Diamond, A 12 term president; of the Cavalier Capers; the Seniors' super-production presented on "Color Day", October the fifteenth; and the traditional Senior breakfast, a huge success, which was held on Friday morning, January the twenty-third. The Cavaliers will always remember with affection their hard-working class sponsors, Mrs. Johnson and Mr. Ramey, and the prom given in their honor by the B 12 class, the Marines, on January 16, 1942.

During the Cavaliers' last term at University High School, officers of the class included Bruce Young, boys' vice-president; Marilyn Bradford, girls' vice-president; Betty Anderson, secretary; and Tom Burns, treasurer.

Final memory of the Cavaliers was their graduation day. Commencement began at four o'clock, Wednesday afternoon, January 28, 1942. Six memorable speeches were given by Marylin Bradford, Constance Cooke, David Hardy, Walter Loy, Thomas Yamada, and Philip Diamond. Following this, the Ephebians, honor students of each class, were presented. Cavalier Ephebians were the following pupils: Robert Harding, outgoing student body president, Mary Ann Rubel, Phillip Diamond and John Lotspiech. Sealbearers were as follows: Constance Cooke, Phillip Diamond, David Hardy, Elly Hinreiner, Laura Jennings, Richard Levee, Janice Meilstrup, Barbara Ryan, Joseph Thomas, and Lorraine Weber. Thus ended the final chapter of life at "Unihi" for the Cavaliers, W'42, leaving memories to the faculty, the student body and the Cavaliers themselves.

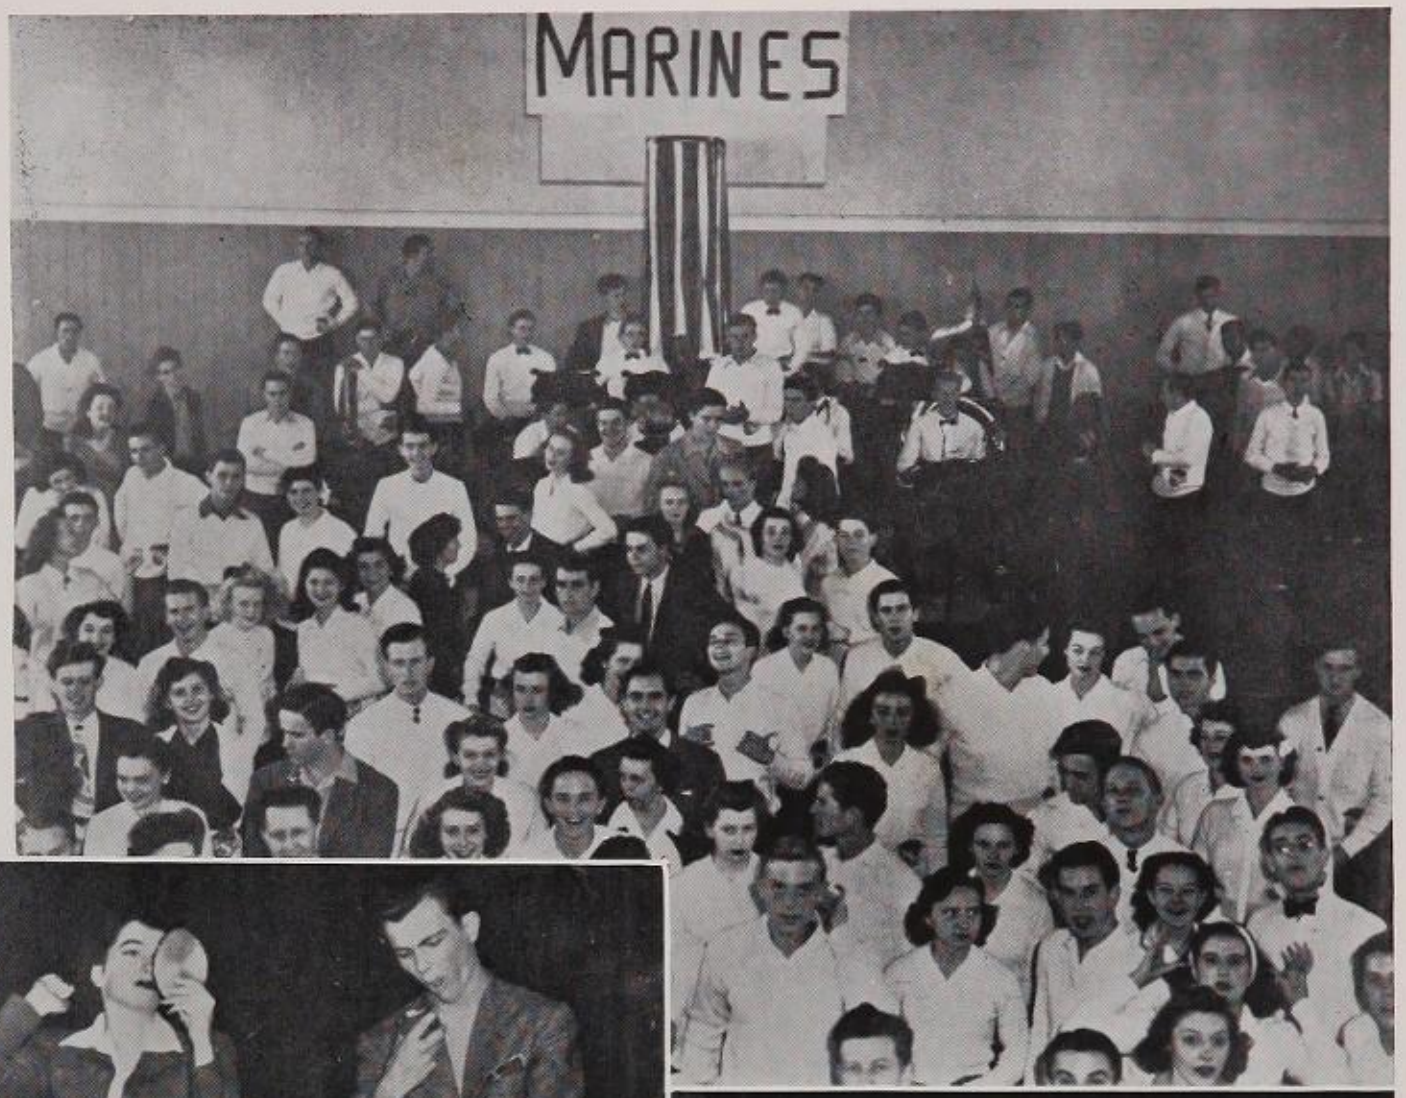
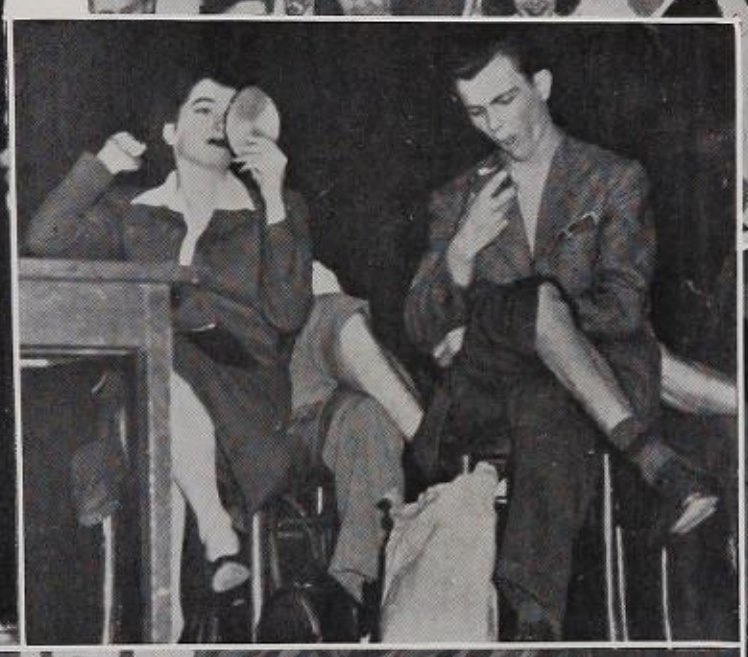
The Marines have landed





The Mighty Marines

A trumbet blares, a bugle sounds, and, as the students bow low, a mighty Marine passes through their midst. This was life at Unihi during summer '42. The Marines' gleaming white sweaters and delicately tanned faces have gone into the wide cruel world, but the halls of Unihi are still filled with memories of them. Only a few of these memories are recorded here.

Every class is best noted for its Color Day production because it is that which gives a clear picture of the personalities and talents of its students. The glorious hour that brought giggles and cheers from the rest of the student body on March thirteenth will be remembered as one of the most successful Color Days ever to appear on Unihi's stage.

Under the enthusiastic sponsorship of Miss Willkie and Mr. Des Rochers, the Marines elected civic-minded members of their class to be their officers. During the B12 term they were Earl Case, president; Hazel Dodson, girls' vice-president; Jim Jewett, boys' vice-president; Helen Johnson, secretary; and Patty Heap, treasurer. Holding these same offices during the Marines' A12 term were Ed Rinck, president; Helen Johnson, girls' vice-president; Dan Andes, boys' vice-president; Bill Inge, treasurer; and Carmen Elliot, secretary.

When the time draws near for a class to graduate, recognition is given for outstanding work and activities to some of the graduating students. Every term, several of these students are chosen to be Ephebians. They are pupils who have shown the greatest success throughout their years at University High School in studies, civic duties and social activities. From the Marine class, ten Ephebians were chosen: Beverly Griffiths, David Caldwell, Patty Heap, Cliff Chisholm, Eugene Lee, Bob Cooling, Janet Hamer, Barbara Davis, Helen Johnson and Ben Adams. The American Legion also gives an award to one boy and one girl from each graduating class. The two Marines to receive this award were Darlene Hubbard and Dan Andes.

The social affairs which brighten every senior year were successful occasions for the Marines. Enjoyed by all who attended were the senior breakfast, "field day" and the senior prom given by the Lancers in honor of the Marine Class on June the twelfth.

Sadly, on June the nineteenth, the Marines said their goodbyes and expressed their feelings at their impressive graduation. Members of this patriotic class who gave speeches to say farewell were David Caldwell, Bert Hickman, June Raymond, Ed Rinck and Helen Johnson.

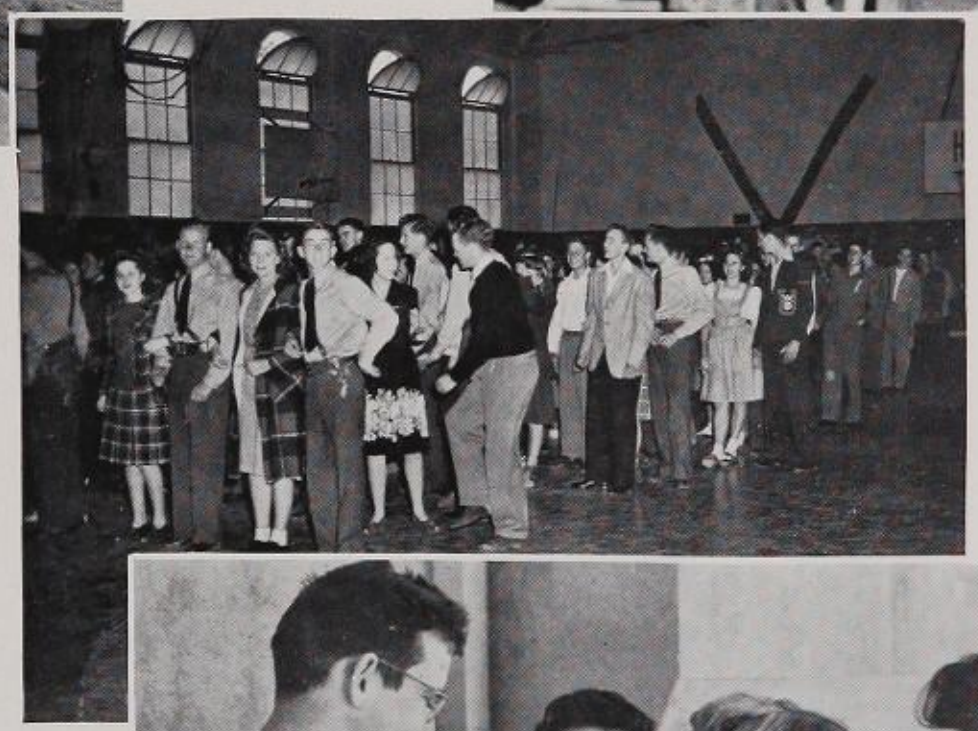
The pause that refreshes

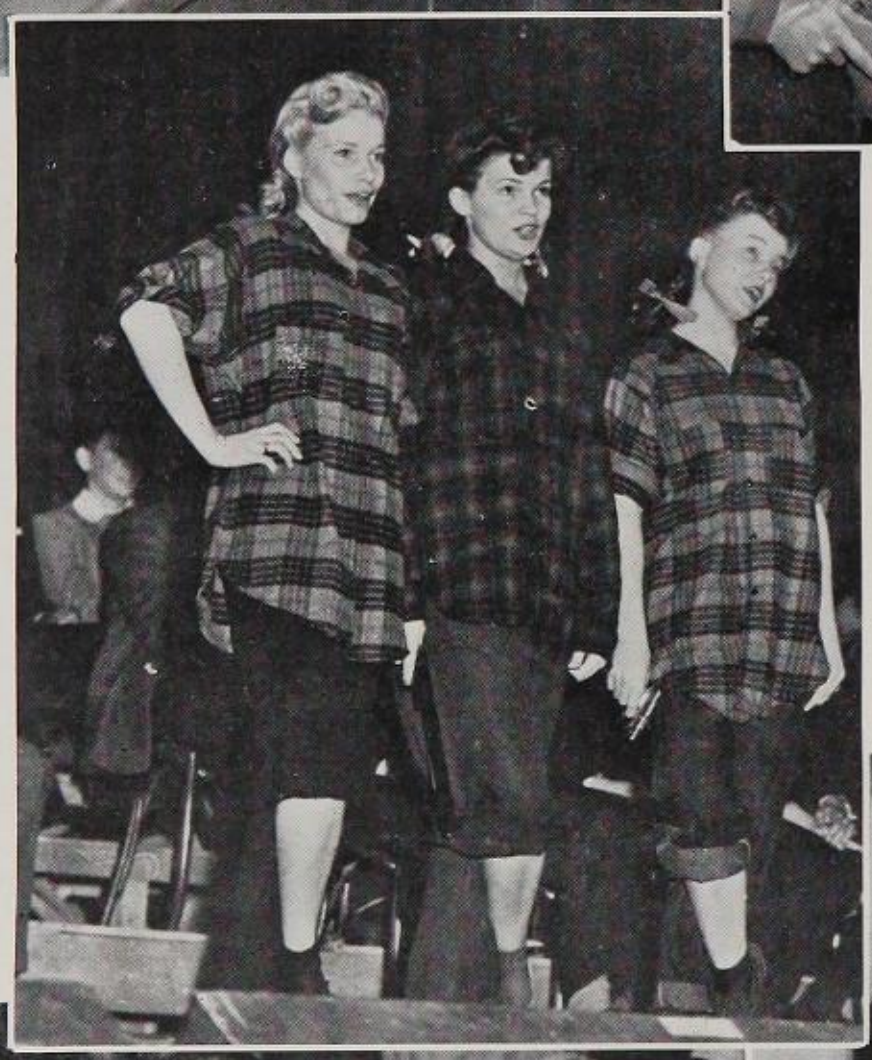
It's all quite satisfactory, say the smiles. The boys are working hard on those model aeroplanes for Uncle Sam, the Hello Day dance was a great success, the grove is a cool, relaxing place, especially when you have popcorn to munch



Here is where I should be. Good Luck and happy walking to a good guy that I like

Kenneth Peng

The top of the world



Life at Unihi is never dull—dashing to Mr. Fife's to pay Senior dues, then down to floriculture to pot a few ferns, over to Color Day rehearsal, a bite of lunch before the Senior A-B tug-of-war; time out for a little game of hockey—there go the Christmas bundles to their destination, and now to the shop for a little work as it looks from here

Shakespearean festival

The annual Shakespearean Festival, held this year at Occidental College, was a particularly festive occasion for the dramatic students from University High School for they carried away the greatest honors bestowed on the entrants.

A cleverly done scene from "Midsummer Night's Dream" won first place with John Swanay in the role of Pyramus; Frank Frazer, Thisbe; Jim Leland, Lion; Harvey Cook, Moon; and Marshall Thompson, Wall. David Caldwell placed second in his division of boys' tragedy, and Isobel Robin took second place in girls' tragedy. Betsy Woodworth was another contestant from this school.

Tune-up time . . . . .

Let the drums roll out. . . . Let the trumpets shout. . . . Strike up the band . . . and from Memoli Hall, tucked under the eaves of the auditorium, comes an exquisite Beethoven melody, the military strains of a Sousa march, or the music of the Senior Color Day.

The University High School Orchestra and A Cappella closed a gratifyingly successful season this year with the Marine Class Commencement exercises. The orchestra, under the skillful direction of Mr. Phillip Memoli, played at many school functions. A large number of its members participated in the All City Music Festival at the Shrine Auditorium.

R.O.T.C. Band may be taken instead of gym, under the auspices of the Reserve Officers' Training Corps. This fine organization trains its members in excellent instrumentation.

On the football field in the fall, the band encouraged the team to touchdown after touchdown, as it marched and played the favorite school songs.

The A Cappella Choir, directed by Mr. Albert Keuchel, fulfilled an ever increasing number of engagements when it sang at churches and clubs all over the city. This music group is composed of the most outstanding students of music at University High School.

On the international scene

Wherever particular people congregate—there one finds the teaching of language. The students of University High School have many advantages in this field. French, German, Spanish, and Latin are all at their fingertips.

Besides the regular classes, clubs have been organized: the Spanish club, the Latin club, the French club and the Laureates. Students may belong if they are studying a language or taking creative writing, although membership is not compulsory.

Those with journalistic talent may be on the Warrior or Chieftain staffs, the weekly newspaper and yearbook, respectively.

Since learning to speak well is an important part of American life, classes in public speaking and in drama are available. The public speaking classes have valuable experience in speaking before classes at Unihi as well as before organizations and clubs in the Village; while the drama groups frequently entain with one-act plays and semi-annually with their more pretentious productions. Students needing special attention in reading, writing, or grammar are able to correct their weaknesses in the remedial English classes.

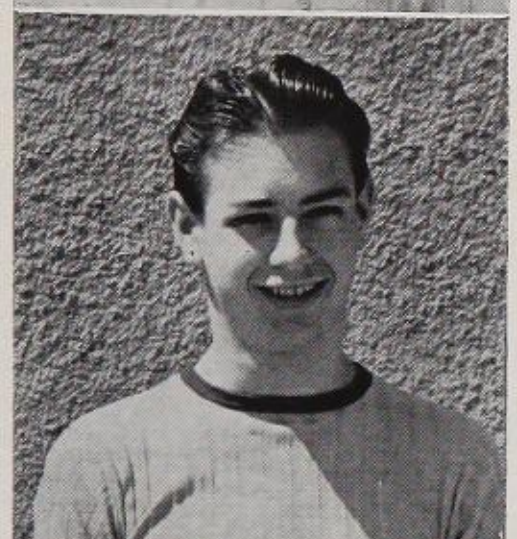
The book of the year

ALICE CASSARD
EDITOR



LYNN BASSEL
ART EDITOR

Red-headed Alice Cassard, "Cassidy" to the staff and her other friends, and Miss Reed as adviser, headed the Chieftain of 1942. After choosing "Advertising" for the theme, the staff went to work because the book had to be completed so much earlier than usual to insure delivery in June.

Assistant editors were Joyce Benjamin, Senior Editor; Lavone Blazek and Martha Bayer, G.A.A., Co-editors; Dick Pegram and Dan Andes, Boys' Sport Co-editors; Bette Schmitz, Publications; Helene Macwilliams, Student Body Editor; Pat Carruthers, School Life Editor. Other members of the staff included Mary Wembridge, Priscilla Crosby, and Pat Williams.

The success of the Chieftain depends to such a great extent upon the art work that Mrs. Petremont and her art staff are a very important part of the Annual workers. They include Lynn Bassell, Art Editor, and Janet Clearwater, Irmine Droeger, Barbara Durbin, Georgia Glenn, Janet Frank, Adele Graner, Bill Inge, Sawae Iwamoto, Terry Kilburn, Norma Larrinaga, Phyllis Moe, Ken Myers, Tom Rodriguez, Frances Stickney, Fumiko Yotsukura, and Carol Zebrowski.

Inside the news at Uni

"We have a deadline to meet, and I've lost my head! It was a dropline F2 20 unit, too. Seen it? To the normal observer comes a tendency to be confused. But to the journalist, it is the tailored jargon essential to the production of a paper. The efficiency of the Warrior staff makes possible a paper which yearly takes first honors with the Columbia Scholastic Press Association and the National Scholastic Press Association, and which this year received a plaque for four years' uniform excellence from the University of Southern California.

The Warrior is being sent to former Japanese students in Utah, and to alumni all over the world. It is read in Australia, South America, Canada, and Iceland, as well as in numerous far-flung states.

Members of the Warrior staff work up from the bottom. They are required to read newspapers of high journalistic standing and are given an opportunity to join the staff as soon as they have proved their ability. The Warrior not only is a self-supporting paper but it contributes $300 a year to the student-body fund. Commissioners of Publications, who supervise the business angle of the Warrior, were Eugene Dvorin and Pat Williams, for spring and fall respectively. Co-editors for the fall were David King and Pat Williams, and for the spring, Dave Saunders and Bill Inge.

ment—Ever Since Eve

The fall production of "Ever Since Eve," by Florence Ryerston and Colin Clements, was an outstanding success. Clever dialogue and comic situations arising from Susan Blake's blunders appealed to each of the three audiences.

Susan was played by Muriel Mansell, one of the finest actresses in University High School, and by equally charming Charmienne Harker. The part of Johnny Clover was well handled by Johnny Lotspiech and Cliff Chisholm.

The young editor of the Penguin, the high school paper, entangled in the throes of his first romance with Lucybelle Lee, a charmer from the South, was nearly defeated as he struggled to bring the paper out on time. When measles struck the staff, sparing only Susan Blake, she came gallantly to the front with amazing results.

Miss Barnes followed her usual custom by double casting the production. Those characters mentioned first played on Thursday and Saturday; the others did the Friday evening show.

Mrs. Furbush, in charge of stage management and the designing and construction of stage sets, had the following able students as her assistants: Maybelle Ward and Bill Jarick, who collaborated on the design of the stage sets; Jerome Moss, stage manager; Dick Harrison and Don Clark, electric crew; Don Bromley, sound technician; Barbara Selig, girls' makeup; Genevra Henley, boys' makeup; Sidney Wallace and Leland Henderson, electrical crew; Hiram Harvey, large props; Betty Tice and Dorothy Bruce, set props.

The Duenna, the play of

"The Duenna", the colorful play of eighteenth century Spanish life, by Richard Sheridan, was produced on the afternoons of May twenty-first and twenty-second. A gay comedy of mistaken identity and two sets of lovers, it was typical of life among the upper classes of Spain.

Under Miss Barnes' able directorial hand, music-drama, and dancing were skillfully combined. Lively and stirring music, conducted by Mr. Memoli, from Bizet's Carmen, highlighted the production. One of Mr. Memoli's compositions, "Agnus Dei", was sung by the nuns of the convent.

The same set was used throughout the play, but it was unique in that a center section revolved to change the scenes from one to another. Gorgeous costumes designed by John Swanay, Dorothe Woolard, Irmine Droeger, and Helen Gris contributed brilliant effects against a background of soft greens and pinks in the rococo style.

Students working under Mrs. Furbush were May Belle Ward, who designed the set; Earl Case, stage manager; Darrell Arnold, assistant stage manager; John Swanay, convent scene; Claudia Briscoe, banquet scene; Dorothe Woolard, Isaac's lodgings; Mildred Sallet and Carol Ann Shallish, make-up managers.

The cast included Louisa: Irene Ramos, Kris Weaver; Clara: Jane Askey, Shirley Doman; the Duenna: Barbara Reeves, Muriel Mansell; Jerome: Eugene Lee, Miles Rodgers; Ferdinand: David Caldwell, Marshall Thompson; Antonio: Charles Flitton, Dick Hearn; Isaac: John Swanay, Ted Grenzbach; Lopez: Harry Cook, Howard Laskey; Carlos: James Whitmer; Father Paul: Richard Walker; dancer: Janet Hamer; maids: Beverly Ware, Martha McElroy; pages: Genie Doughtie, Faye Doughtie, Christine Rondone, Marie Rondone; servants: Wayne Husted, Toby Hernandez, Frank Frazer, Allen Griffiths, Jim Leland; gypsy dancers: Mary Pedler, Helen Delliquadri, Jerry Wyss, Marilyn Hassett, Barbara Wade, Barbara Mahana, Lois Sickner, Deborah Shulman; children: Peter Furbush, Louisa Thomas; singers: Faye Simon, Ruth Pratt, Ann Hale, Carol Hutton, Ruta Bielskis, Jackie Ferris, Bob Wardwell, Don Stone, Bill King; nuns: Pat Parrish, Sally Dean, Betty Heinmiller, Barbara Kline, Janet Westburg, Mildred McNeil, Nancy Johnson, Rosemary Spaulding.

Lights! Props! Curtain!

After any major production given on University Hi's stage, very tired individuals are to be seen staggerin garound backstage, often mumbling to themselves. These are members of the stage crew who labored many long weeks for the sparkling results expected by the eager audience.

The stage crew for the senior play, "Ever Since Eve," was under the management of Jerome Moss. Electrical managers were Dick Harrison and Don Clark; the sound effects department was managed by Don Bromley; large props, by Hiram Harvey; and flies, by Lee Johnson. Lavone Blazek was in charge of paint and signs for the sets; Don Carpenter, men's costumes; Betty Hayes and Marion Sweet, women's costumes; Barbara Selig and Genevra Henley managed women's and men's make-up, respectively. The charming sets were designed by May Belle Ward and Bill Jarick.

Other theatrical highlights were the presentations of the Cavalier and the Marine Color Days. Stage manager for the latter production was Daryl Arnold, assisted by Jim Mitchell, sound effects; Dick Harrison, electric department; Helen Smith, grips; Marion Smith and Ralph Jones, props; Mildred Sallet and Carol Shallish, make-up; Lavone Blazek and Lynn Clark, paint; Betty Hayes and Roy Hall, costumes; and Lee Johnson, flies.

During the school year, over 750 speeches were made by the Broadcasters on such prominent subjects as the Warrior, the spring and fall senior plays, the Hancock Ensemble, Hello Day, Hi-Y Days, and the Toy Loan Drive. Students participating in public speaking classes are eligible for membership in this club.

Under the capable direction of Mrs. Johnson, the club sponsor, the Broadcasters are sent from class to class to create interest in current school activities. Fall officers included Jim Miller, president; Jim Jewett, vice-president; Sue Lisso, secretary; Tadashi Masoaka, treasurer. The new spring officers were John MacNair, president; Ed Rinck, vice-president; Barbara Barton and Glen Holtby, chairmen; Dick Moon and Blair Attridge, treasurers; Sidney Moore and John Simons, secretaries.

V for victory gardens

By its rapid growth, Vocational Landscape Architecture is proving itself worthy of a place in campus life at Unihi. Students interested in horticulture as a profession work three hours daily in and around University Hi's vast greenhouse and outdoor gardens. Many girls joined the class recently to do similar work.

This year, the class had the novel experience of helping to launch Boldt Springs, a small piece of the Garden of Eden in the bank surrounding the girls' gym field. The charming spring and wishing well were named for Mr. Boldt, who designed and landscaped them.

The class was formed last year under the supervision of Mr. Roberts, who still sponsors it.

Survey of Big Business

Practical arts are playing an ever increasing part in today's living pattern. With an unmet demand at the factories and in the offices for young men and women who can type and take shorthand accurately, students are being trained to do these jobs ably and well.

These boys and girls are taught under the expert guidance of Miss Keefe, Miss Tubman, Miss Fountain, Miss Unger, and Mr. Mitchem. Under Mr. Fife, business manager of the school, students wishing practical application of the fundamentals which they have learned are allowed to help in his office.

For the many girls who enjoy making their own clothes the clothing classes offered at University High School are many and varied. In the clothing department are Mrs. Greene and Miss Dickson; the latter is the sponsor of one of the most popular boards at school, the Suitable Dress Board. The two instructors in the cooking department are Mrs. Brandriff and Miss Bennett, who teach the girls of University High School skill in culinary art.

The shops this year are more important than ever before because of the present war emergency. Several new ones were added: model airplane construction and airplane fabrication. The government sent a call to all of the high schools in the nation for increased participation in model airplane work. The boys responded with a large number of planes built from meticulous scale drawings. The wood shops undertook a governmental order to construct several hundred stretchers, which they completed in record time.

Rebuilt and restyled cars are the pride and joy of boys at any high school; there is no exception at University High School. Under the able direction of Mr. Cooke and Mr. Forrester, the students who take this shop are taught the actual mechanics of a car—how to straighten bent parts, how to care for any car model.

In the wood shops, which are supervised by Mr. Bangerter and Mr. Dowey, boys who wish to learn the fundamentals of cabinet construction are skillfully prepared to continue this trade if they may choose to do so.

The print shop does the printing of the school paper, the Warrior. Mr. Hallock is in charge of this shop, where the students are taught the principles of linotyping and the setting up of a paper.

Drafting is under the able supervision of Mr. McDermott and Mr. Armstrong, each of whom teaches a different phase of this precision drawing which requires so much skill. Mr. McDermott teaches mechanical drafting; while Mr. Armstrong teaches architectural drawing.

Wake up America,

This second world war has created a challenge to the youth of today. It is the youth who must cope with the post-war years; it is the teachers of this youth who must prepare them for the task that lies ahead of him.

The Social Sudies department, under the capable direction of Miss Irvine, is concerned directly with this, as well as with the teaching the practice and function of government and industry.

Tenth grade students may elect World Cultures, which includes a study of major European peoples and the European background of American history. In the eleventh grade, students are required to take a course entitled American Life and Institutions. The purposes of this course are to develop more competent citizens and to create a more exact picture of the country's major problems. The twelfth grade students are required to take Senior Problems. This course is divided into five sections: namely, Vocational Guidance, Family Relations, Consumers' Education, Social Arts, and National Defense.

for better living

So you think you're smart? This is the department which will show you the error in your calculation. But to those students who hold a real interest in the more technical side of education, University's science and mathematics department leaves nothing to be desired. They may acquire skill in the use of the laboratory, mathematical accuracy, and biological background in the fields of physiology, life science, and floriculture. University's chemistry and physics departments are the best, and turn out high-rating students, who have had hours of laboratory experience and scientific research along their respective subjects. Of course these people are only students today, but give them a chance and they will be the Einsteins of tomorrow.

Our mathematical geniuses approach their problems in their own way. They may often be seen, with hair dishevelled, a protractor in one hand and a short, stubby pencil in the other, staring at a page of mangled figures and scribblings, intelligible only to themselves. From Algebra 1 to Trigonometry, they find the best teachers and the most interesting subjects of this field.

The floriculture classes of University High School are responsible for the beauty and charm of our campus.

"I'm a Mawanda." This statement is made with pride and enthusiasm by the girls who belong to the University honor society.

The members are chosen for leadership and for services rendered the school. Once a member, the girls enjoy many social activities. In service to the school the Mawandas supervise assembly conduct, usher at graduation and participate in Christmas work.

This year the Mawandas were the proud owners of new sweaters, a long Cardigan in the traditional colors—yellow with the blue emblem.

Club leaders for the fall were Rae Ashman, president; Sally McSpadden, vice-president; Marilyn Bradford, secretary; Martha Stratton, treasurer; and Genevra Henley, parliamentarian. Officers for the spring term were Patty Heap, president; Helen Johnson, vice-president; Priscilla Crosby, secretary; Alice Cassard, treasurer; and Janet Westburg, parliamentarian. Back at her familiar post was Mrs. Harrison, club sponsor.

Traversing the campus in distinguished gray sweaters emblazoned with a shield, the Knights present an awe-inspiring sight as they accomplish meritorious feats of school and community service. This organization is comprised of boys who have contributed some outstanding service to University High School, and provides an opportunity for them to continue such accomplishments.

Each semester the Knights have two prominent social functions with the Mawandas, the Knight-Mawanda Dinner Dance and the Knight-Mawanda Social.

Heading the Knights in the fall were Phil Diamond, president; Jack Hewson, vice-president; Colin Simpson, secretary; Dan Andes, treasurer. In the spring term Dan Andes was president; Bob Davis, vice-president; Bob Cooling, secretary; Bud Gill, treasurer. The Knights are sponsored by Mr. Casey and Mr. Sawyer.

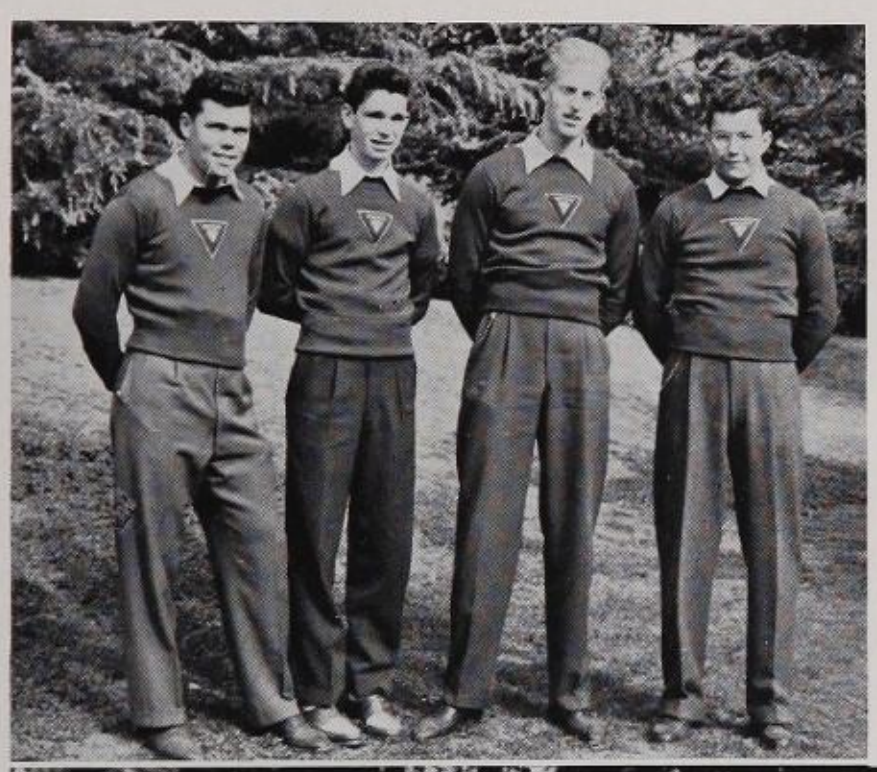
Last year, directed by the sponsors, Mrs. Green and Mrs. Cooke, the girls made charming scrapbooks for the children's hospital; and, during the summer, Pat Woodward represented Unihi at the annual Asilomar conference at Lake Tahoe. Now, social activities are being stressed more than ever and, an increasing number of teas and luncheons are appearing on the social calendar.

Alpha officers for the fall term, unanimously re-elected this year, are as follows: Pat Woodward, president; Mignon Wilson, vice-president; Barbara Durbin, secretary; and Billie Andrejesky, treasurer.

Beta officers for the spring term were Lillian Manning, president; Peggy Bates, vice-president; Jean Gillingwater, secretary; and Shirley Dryer, treasurer.



HI-Y

The Hi-Y is a club formed to create and promote friendship among the boys of the school. It makes possible the opportunity for the boys to work together while serving their school. The club is a junior branch of the Y.M.C.A.

The fall semester found the boys very busy packing, collecting, and delivering Christmas welfare boxes. The officers during the fall term were Tony Ginther, president; Cliff Chisholm, vice-president; John McNair, secretary; Doug Miller, treasurer.

The spring leaders were Eugene Lee, president; Ennis Scott, vice-president; John McNair, secretary; Bob Davis, treasurer.

The club, under the capable direction of Mr. Ramey, played host at the semi-annual Hello Day dances. One of the high lights of the spring semester was the gigantic "Y" day held at the Westwood Community Church, featuring instructive instruction groups, athletics, dinner, and entertainment by celebrities, with more than a hundred boys attending the affair.

Members of the organization bearing the title of Lettergirls have obtained the supreme honor to be achieved in girls' sports at University High School. These girls are chosen each semester from the numerous competitors in the Girls' Athletic Association.

Membership in this club is determined by the members themselves, who nominate girls deemed eligible to belong. Individual rating is represented by stars on the letter, awarded at the conclusion of three semesters of participation in sports activities with the G.A.A.

They function mainly as an honor society but have certain duties which include officiating at Girls' League Assemblies and serving on committees. Social activities include initiations and parties held throughout the year.

The fruits of their long year of hard work are realized at the annual awards assembly held near the end of the term when the presentation of their awards is witnessed by the entire student body.

Led his year by presidents Dorothy Bruce and Mildred Hankins, the girls maintained their high record of clean sportsmanship that University has always maintained.

Every reader of the Chieftain wants to know more about the Lettermen. True, almost everyone has heard of the brave deeds and heroic activities of these students of Unihi, but just what are they like? Are they about the same as ordinary people? The answer is "No". They are far stronger and braver than other human beings, and thus are looked up to by other members of the student body.

The blue sweaters with their bright orange stripes are earned by conscientious work on the part of each letterman. The day to which they look forward is the one when they receive their sweaters and are accepted as full-fledged lettermen of Unihi.

SABRE AND CHEVRON

Present arms! Eyes right! With medals shining in military splendor, members of the Sabre and Chevron assembled in the gloomy citadel of the University armory during the annual army inspection. Under the sponsorship of Lieutenant Cameron, the club plans the military ball held at the high school each semester, the two most popular girls of the Senior A class being selected to preside as honorary officers.

During the fall football season, Sabre and Chevron members acted as guards at the games, where they maintained order and checked admission tickets. Officers for the fall season were Dan Andes, president; Bill Bringham, vice-president; Ted Champion, secretary; George Smith, treasurer; Elmer Fetzer, parliamentarian. Spring officers were Elmer Fetzer, president; Walter Keusder, vice-president; Ed Curtiss, secretary; Dick Rice, treasurer; Dion East, parliamentarian.

MELEDONIANS

Membership in the Meledonians is open to the students who receive at least three A's and one B on their report cards. During the spring semester, a new service sponsored by this club was inaugurated. Students who were out of school because of illness could apply for tutors through the Meledonians. Members excelling in any subject donated their services during their lunch periods.

With their sponsor, Miss Tubb, officers and chairmen attended the Los Angeles meeting of the Southern California Federation of Scholarship at Marlborough School.

Officers who presided during the fall term included Beverly Griffiths, president; Shirley Doman, girls' vice-president; Bob Cooling, boys' vice-president; Clair Freericks, secretary; Jane Askey, treasurer. Spring presiding officers were Darlene Hubbard, president; Jane Askey, girls' vice-president; David Caldwell, boys' vice-president; Shirley Dellinger, secretary; Beverly Beveridge, treasurer.

"Senatus Populusque Romanus", togas, banquets, and Cicero—the Latin club at University High School does not keep up with the times, but turns the clock back to ancient Roman days, delving into the history of buried cities, studying Roman dress, and following the lives of Caesar and Cato.

The inauguration of the Magistrates is one of the outstanding activities of the club, along with the annual banquet held for the entertainment of the A9 Latin students of Emerson Junior High School. The banquet follows Roman lines in food, dress, and entertainment, and the students of both schools look forward to it with much anticipation.

University's fighting Warriors completed their most successful season in six years, with the Braves tying the Hamilton Yankees for second place honors.

With mostly second string men returning this year, the Warriors bowed to defeat in their practice tilt with Los Angeles High 21 to 0; but coming back strong in their second game, the Warriors defeated San Fernando 14 to 0.

A team weakened by sickness took to the field at Venice to be defeated 20 to 0. A great loss in this game was Doug Miller, who, because of illness, was not able to lead the attack for any length of time.

In their first league victory against Dorsey, the Warriors got off to a good start by scoring early in the first quarter. Spurred on by Miller and Leech, the Braves won 20 to 14.

Against Hamilton, the Warriors were badly outplayed in the first half, but in the second they were a changed team, battling their way to make two touchdowns and tie 14 to 14.

In the game at Hollywood, back in the Western League for the first time in four years, the Warriors clicked with a new pass combination, Miller to Holtby. Twice this twosome made the grade and helped to defeat the Sheiks 12 to 6.

A bid to the Coliseum hung in the balance when the Braves travelled to Fairfax to compete with the Colonials. In this tussel the Warriors made three touchdowns only to have two of them called back because of penalties. The game ended with a 7 to 7 tie, also tying the Warriors with Hamilton for second place.

A flip of the coin decided that it was University that would travel to the Coliseum to match themselves agains the Washington Generals. The Braves stove off three goal-line thrusts, but the Generals passed to make a touchdown for the South. In this tussel, the South tied the North with a score of 19 to 19.

The Warrior Babes had one of the finest teams this season that they have had for a long time. Their main trouble was that they were inconsistent, winning hard games and losing some easy ones.

In their first league game of the season the University B's put up a good showing by defeating Venice 12-7. After a hectic quarter and a half, the papooses put on the steam and drove down the field 80 yards in four plays to a touchdown. Starting from the Warrior twenty, Dunbar made a twenty-yard run to the Venice 40, and three plays later Norman Braine pulled down a pass from Working and ran for a touchdown. The conversion was blocked. At the opening of the second half the Papooses again drove to pay dirt, with Braine, Ashcroft, Dunbar, and Hartwig centering in the drive.

The second game of the season, which the Warriors played against Hamilton, was a rather poor one for the Babes, who lost by a score of 12-2.

The game against Hollywood was featured by a 71 yard run by Larry Rock, a guard, when the University B's knocked over Hollywood, 21-1. The Papooses began to roll soon after the opening kick-off ,with Rock, Dunbar, and Crilly scoring the touchdowns.

Scoring once in the first and fourth quarters, Uni triumphed over Fairfax, 13-7. After an early score by Fairfax, the Babes scored their first touchdown when Harry Devlin went off right tackle for 33 yards. University's final score came in the last three minutes of the game when Wally Working passed to Norman Braine for the score.

The last game of the season, Unihi played Dorsey for the championship, but the Warriors lost 25-0, and came in third place in the league.

King size . . . on the

After a series of close games in which the Warriors lost by margins of one or two baskets, Unihi ended with three won and seven lost in the league standings. Ending the regular sesaon with 51 points, Bob Webster led the University scorers with an aver age of 5.1 for ten. Close behind Webster was Captain Bob Davis with 46 for a 4.6 average; and Ben Lewis, sensational sophomore with 39 for an average per game of 3.9. Although Unihi was not as successful as she might have been offensively, hers was considered the best defensive team in the Western Lague.

The season opened with Unihi's clashing with Venice. Taking the count by losing the first game, the Warriors came back to nose out the Gondoliers by a margin of one point, with Lewis scoring in the last minute of the game.

The sharp-shooting Dons defeated the Braves for their second league defeat after running neck and neck for just about the whole way. The second game was just as close, with Dorsey again coming out on top.

Unihi lost the first game to Hamilton, but came back to win with the best played game of the season.

With Webster leading the way by scoring a total of ten points against the Sheiks, Unihi marched to its second win of the season. In the second game against Hollywood, Uni took a nosedive when the Sheik scored heavily the last few minutes in one of the best games that had ever been played in the Hollywood gym.

The only game in which the Warriors had more than thirty points scored against them was a close game which the Fairfax boys clinched in the last thirty seconds by dropping a bucket from midcourt. The last game of the season found the Warriors with only nine team members able to attend the game. The Warriors held their own until the last quarter, when, tired out with no fresh substitutes, Unihi dropped the game to the Colonials.

Coach Marvin

At the beginning of the season, the Warrior B's looked like a hard team to beat with six lettermen returning. But unfortunately, overconfidence set them behind a game or two, and they finished the season with third place in the league.

The spark-plug of the team was Pete Valdez, a member of the Marine class, and a good all around player. Valdez teamed with Willis Jennings at forward, and with the better than average long shots of Jennings, this outstanding twosome spurred the team on time after time.

The team was completed with Joe Dillenbeck, Dick Routley, and Fred Sawahata trading off at the position of guard, and Jerome Moss and Dick Hickerson alternating at center.

Performance is what counts

Not given much of a chance by the diamond experts at the beginning of the season, the Warrior horsehiders came along fast to annex second place in the Western league.

Being green, with only a few experienced ball players returning, the reservation nine broke about even in their practice encounters. They played a fair game at the Dorsey Invitational Tournament, as they defeated Torrance and Hollywood and lost tough battles to Huntington Park and Banning. With the valuable experience gained in their many practice games, and with the watchful eye of Coach Jerry Marvin upon them, the University nine went into league competition.

The first game was with the championship Fairfax nine, and the Warriors, led by Art Smith's sensational two-hit pitching and a three-run triple off the bat of Willie Hernandez toppled the Colonials in their only setback of the long campaign. With plenty of spirit after such a brilliant beginning, the reservation nine turned on the heat to completely rout Hamilon 10-1, and set back the undefeated Hollywood Sheiks 7-5. Bud Gill's home run blast featured in the Hollywood contest.

University lost its next game, although Tommy Houchen filled in well for Willie Hernandez, who was stricken with the measles. Dorsey had a jinx on the home nine, however, and won the game 6-4. Completing the first round of play in a tie for first with Fairfax, the Warriors defeated Venice 3-2, with Joe Dillenbeck driving in the winning runs.

In their next meeting, the Fairfax boys gained revenge for their earlier defeat by winning a close, hard-fought battle 6-5 on Van Cleve Field at Fairfax. The Yanks of Hamilton journeyed to University next and left minus their scalps as they were crushed 7-3.

The University outfit was one of the squads in the longest and best played game of the season as they battled 11 innings to a 2-2 tie with the Hollywood Sheiks in their second encounter. Still holding a jinx over the Warriors, Dorsey's Dons traveled to the reservation and went home victorious 4-2, and in the final game of the year University's Varsity baseball team defeated Venice 6-3.

University placed two men on the all-Western league, when Bud Gill and Tommy Peters were honored by the Helms Athletic Foundation. Peters led the team in hitting and was brilliant afield, and Bud covered the center field position as well as did any one in the city.

The squad's record for the season was 6 wins, 3 losses and 1 tie for a second place berth in the Western League. Not bad for such a green team. Congratulations, Coach Jerry Marvin and the boys!

Because of unseasonal rains which postponed two track meets, and war conditions which demanded that the 1942 Chieftain be sent to press earlier than in previous years, we have been unable to provide all the statistics usually found in the track section. But we can predict that University's varsity track team will have an exceptionally successful season. We base our predictions on the performance of the Warrior squad against the favored Hollywood Sheiks. Led by the speedsters, Melvin Patton and Glen Holtby, both of whom sliced seconds off of previous school records in the first meet of the season, the Warrior cindermen downed Hollywood, 63⅔ to 40⅓.

The score as we went to press: Unihi 9, U.C.L.A. frosh 6; Unihi 12½, Hamilton 2½; Unihi 7, Beverly 8.

The University High School Rifle Team sponsored by Sergeant Kimbrough showed a marked improvement over last year's team by ending their competitive firing for the Hearst Trophy with a score of twenty more points than last year's team.

The Tennis Team, coached by Mr. Taylor and led by captain Bob Davis, has played the finest brand of tennis ever seen on the reservation this year, by going through a full season without being defeated in the Western League.

The University Gym Team, coached by Mr. Dixon, has had a fair season of competition. The muscle men defeated the Hollywood Sheiks and the Dorsey Dons. The other three meets, lost to Fairfax, Hamilton, and Venice, were hard-fought and very close meets. Even though weakened by the moving of Japanese students, University entered six men in the 1942 Western League finals.

At the beginning of this school year, the Girls' Athletic Association participated in two highly successful playdays. One of the playdays was held at Fairfax High School, while Narbonne High School hosted the other. Basketball, baseball an dspeedball were but a few of the many sports featured at both events. The supervision of all of the activities was in the capable hands of the physical education teachers. True to tradition, University High School's G.A.A. proved itself to be superior on the field of battle, always displaying excellent sportsmanship.

However, the war made it necessary to cancel all future interscholastic playdays for the rest of the academic year, and possibly to cancel them for the duration of the war. In place of the vetoed playdays, a new system was installed. On May 13, the girls engaged in inter-class competition. There were approximately two hundred girls participating in the event; this new plan proved to be a much enjoyed alternative. In reality, it was a sort of local playday; the only element missing from the former playdays was the joy of making new acquaintances.

Many types of sports, both individual and team, are played throughout the year. In the fall, hockey and basketball are featured, while speedball and basketball hold the center of attention in the spring. The individual sports include archery, badminton and the ever popular tennis. Tournaments were held in all sports, both individual and team. These help to increase the competitive spirit.

The G.A.A. banquet and initiation, usually held in the evening, took place in the late afternoon because of the war. A stunt show following the formal initiation was one of the highlights of the year. Both new and old members of the Girls' Athletic Association took part in the program. A spirit of comradeship and good fellowship prevailed throughout the group.

One of the most important features of the "all out for defense" program is the part Americans must play individually in creating and preserving physical well-being. This aspect of the civilian defense plan has always been the motto of the Girls' Physical Education Department.

Under the capable and careful supervision of Mrs. Harrison, any girl may obtain specialized corrective exercises if she is in need of them.
